
Taxation

The taxation sector in Ireland has experienced significant growth in recent years. The favourable corporate tax regime available to businesses in Ireland together with the growth of the economy in general has led to a huge increase in the demand for professional tax advice. The growth in the economy and inward investment means that more and more companies as well as individuals require tax advice not just on matters related to corporate tax but also on wealth management and financial planning issues.

Brightwater's Taxation division offers specialised expertise in taxation recruitment covering opportunities in professional practice as well in industry & financial services. We advise clients on the recruitment of a full range of positions from tax trainees right through to tax partners & heads of taxation. Working as specialists in what is an extremely defined sector in the Irish market, we have developed an exceptionally strong network of clients and candidates across all areas of taxation.

Our areas of expertise include:

- Taxation Consultancies
- Professional Practice
- Industry & Commerce
- Financial Services

Although one of the smallest fields in finance, taxation is the cornerstone of every business transaction and commercial decision and as such there is an ever growing demand for outstanding tax consultants particularly for those with proven advisory skills. The constantly growing international dimension to all areas of business in Ireland means that knowledge of overseas tax jurisdictions is increasingly sought after.

We recruit for an array of roles, including:

- Practice
- Industry Services
- Financial Services
- Tax Partner
- Director of European Taxation
- Tax Director
- Head of VAT
- Wealth Management Consultant
- Tax Planning Manager
- Personal Tax Consultant
- Corporate Tax Consultant
- Tax Planning Consultant
- Expatriate Tax Consultant
- Corporate Tax Advisory Consultant
- Tax Trainee

Our Service to You

At Brightwater, we pride ourselves in our superior levels of service. Brightwater offers a truly consultative service to both client and candidate from the very start of the recruitment process to completion. Our commitment to service and our technical expertise sets us aside from our competitors. We also offer additional services such as providing salary surveys and information on current market trends. We take great pride in building successful and lasting working partnerships with both employers and jobseekers.

For a confidential discussion, please contact our Taxation team.